

Project marketing support pack

Does your business experience peaks and troughs and as a result, you only require expert project marketing support for short periods of time?

We have the perfect solution; pre-purchase a set of marketing support hours with Property Republic, to be used for any ad-hoc marketing service you require.

Not only will you be able to budget these hours, but once approved, you need only reach out to our team and we'll begin working on the task as soon as we can.

For total transparency and seamless communication, we'll provide a SharePoint site where you can see what we're working on, track each task's progress and check how many support hours you have remaining.

As property marketing specialists, we speak your language and will work alongside you to help you achieve great results.
